Few Living Who Fought in '47.
Maj. William M. Weaver of Springfield recently entertained the only known survivors of the war between the United States and Mexico who live in that part of the country. It is the annual custom of Maj. Weaver to invite all the survivors of that war to take dinner with him on the anniversary of his entry to the army for the campaign in Mexico. Only five veterans a- the war responded to the invitations this year. Only a few more were found and they were unable to come here owing to physical disability, but they sent regrets. The veterans who were there are James A. Van Zant of Kirtyville, Mo., 86 years old; Valen-tine Gunsenman of Wakefield, Kan., 84 years old; William Hale of Bolivar, Mo., 82 years old; C. L. Newman of Marionville, Mo., 82 years old; John Inman of School, Mo., 82 years old; Major Weaver of Springfield, Mo., 80 years old. Most of them entered the army in 1847 and served throughout

New Plan for State Camp.

The encampment this year at Nevada is to be an innovation, and among the very first of the kind ever held in the United States. Instead of bringing all the enlisted men to the camp, as has been the custom for many years, it is planned to make of the annual gathering a school of instruction. Only about 1,000 picked men will be brought, and these will be composed largely of officers. All the men will be organized into one "crack" regiment, and the federal government will send several high army officers here to instruct the man in military tactics and maneuvering. It is expected that in years to come this plan will bear much fruit in transmitted efficiency among all he troops.

For Public Buildings $1,000,000. There will be expended in Missouri nearly $1,000,000 for public buildings. The items for each as carried in the public buildings bill, and the amounts and purpose of each authorized expenditure is as follows: At Maryville, $20,000, to increase limit for postoffice. At St. Louis, $100,000 for improvement of custom house. At Boonville, $50,000; Chillicothe, $65,000; Poplar Bluff, $65,000; Marshall, $60,-000; Rolla, $50,000, all for postoffice buildings, sites having been perviously obtained. At DeSoto, $60,000; Excelsior Springs, $60,000; Fulton, $60, 000; Webb City, $70,000, sites and buildings. At St. Louis, $300,000, site for subtreasury.

Sermons by Presbyterians.

"Prohibition Day" has been entered on the calendar of the Protestant churches of Missouri by Judge William H. Wallace, president of the Constitutional Amendment association, and his colleagues, in the attempt to make the state "dry" at the regular election, November 8. According to the plan, Sunday, July 3, the day before the national holiday, will be observed as a day of prayer, and preachers throughout the state will, afternoon and evening, point out to their congregations the evil that rum does and urge the people to use the ballot in securing the necessary amendmen to the constitution to make Missouri a Prohibition state.

A Farm From An Aeroplane. A five-acre farm will be dropped from the sky when the aeroplane flight across Missouri from St. Louis to Kansas City is held in July. The Missouri board of immigration and nounced that before the aeroplanists leave St. Louis they will be provided with cards, one of which will entitle the finder to five acres of Missouri land. The cards are to be dropped in the flight. The land to be given away is located in Washington county, 40 miles from St. Louis.

The Editors Hear Speeches. The Missouri Press association at Cape Girardeau heard addresses by E. M. Lewis, St. Louis; W. R. Painter, Carrollton; M. T. Sailor, Chillicothe; Walter Ridgway, Kirksville; Ovid Bell, Fulton; William Southern, Jr., Independence: N. G. Rogers Trenton, and Walter Williams, dean of the school of journalism, Columbia.

Her Perfect Twelve-Year Record. Miss Myrtle Nichols, a member of the graduating class of this year from the Lathrop High school, entered school in the fall of 1898. During her 12 years of school life she has never been tardy, never missed a day, and has never failed being promoted at the end of the school year.

Nothing but Presence of Master Could Convince Spanlels He Was Not Drowned.

The affectionate loyalty of dogs is always pleasant to read about, even when, as in the instance recorded by Mr. Woodgate in the "Reminscences of an old Sportsman," their devotion is a little annoying to the master. The story is of a pair of spaniels belonging to Mr. Woodgate's younger brother.

One day the spaniels accompanied Gerald and Austin to bathe in the "New" pool, the only secluded part of the chain of artificial lakes. The younger boy, Austin, put on an old straw hat in the water. It tore to the other going home. Gerald was dressed first, and started, the dogs following him. Presently, observing that Austin was not following, the spaniels raced back to hurry him up.

After the bath they separated, one going to a friend's house for luncheon,

Meanwhile Austin had completed dressing, and had thrown his tatered straw hat into the pool, fumped the mill "lead" where it was narrow, and so departed.

The dogs sought for him. The jump over the "lead" apparently folled the scent; the tattered hat floated visibly in the pool, and seemed to tell a tale of disaster. The dogs plunged in. The hat had no one under it. They dived and quested in vain,

Hours passed, and forgemen observed them there at work; and when forge hours were over rumor reached the village that drags were needed in "New" pool, to find the remains of Master Austin Woodgate, whose straw hat was floating there, and the rectory spaniels swimming round it.

Gerald went and tried to call the dogs off. They declined to come. In such emergency it was no longer, in their opinion, a matter of seniores priores. They stuck to their quest. There was nothing to be done but to send up Austin to fetch them. As soon as they were satisfied that he was no ghost, they came home complacently to their supper.-Youth's Companion.

Lawyers' Oratory.

"Oratory is, indeed, a lost art," said "Jack" Collister the other day. "I used to go down to the courts just to hear the lurid speeches. Nothing doing in that line any more. The lawyers do not talk about flowers, rainbows and sunbeams any more.

PLANTING IS CORN OVER

THAT CANADIAN TRIP SHOULD NOW BE TAKEN.

If you had intended going to Canada for the purpose of purchasing land on which to establish a home and accompanying some land company, whose holdings you proposed to look over or to go up on your own account to select one hundred and sixty acres of land free, you should delay no longer. Corn-planting is over, your wheat crop is well ahead, and you have a few weeks' time before you are required in the fields again. Now make your intended trip. Reports at hand show that the crop prospects in Canada were never better than they are today. The cool weather has not affected the crop, but if anything. it has been a benefit. There has been plenty of moisture and those who have had their land properly prepared look upon this year as likely to be one of the best they have had. A great many are going up this season who expect to pay two or three dollars an acre more than they were asked to pay last year. Others who wish to homestead are prepared to go farther from the line of railway than would have been necessary last year. Still it is worth it. So it will be with you. Next year lands will be higher-priced and homesteads less accessible. There is a wonderful tide of immigration to Central Canada now. It is expected that one hundred and fifty thousand new settlers from the United States will be numbered by the end of the present year, an increase of fifty per cent over last year. In addition to this there will be upwards of one hundred thousand from the old country, which does not include those who may come from the northern countries of the Continent. These all intend to settle upon the land. The reader does not require an answer to the questions, "Why do they do it?" Why are they going there in such large numbers?" Western Canada is no longer an experiment. The fact that one hundred and fifty million bushels of wheat were raised there last year as against ninety-five millions the year previous, shows that the tiller of the soil in Central Canada is making money and it is safe to say that he is making more money than can be made anywhere else on the Continent in the growing of grains. He gets good prices, he has a sure and a heavy crop, he enjoys splendid railway privileges, and he has also the advantages of schools and churches and such other social life as may be found anywhere. It is difficult to say what district is the best. Some are preferred to others because there are friends already established. The Grand Trunk Pacific, on its way across the Continent, is opening up a splendid tract of land, which is being taken up rapidly. The other railways —the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern are extending branch lines into parts inaccessible a couple of years ago. With a perfect network of railways covering a large area of the agricultural lands it is not difficult to secure a location. Any agent of the Canadian Government will be pleased to render you assistance by advice and suggestion, and a good plan is to write or call upon him. The Government has locate agents at convenient points through-

It is said of the inhabitants of Iasus off Carla that when a certain harper was performing the people who were listening heard the bell for the opening of the fish market, and rushed off, with the exception of one man who was a little deaf. The harper, coming up, addressed him thus: "My good sir, I am much flattered by your staying to hear me when all the rest ran off at the sound of a bell." "What?" said he, "has the fish-bell rung? Then I'm off too. Good-by."-Strabo.

The Crucial Test. At an adjourned town council meeting in the north, a member casually mentioned that a person could not enjoy or even distinguish between drinks in the dark. A worthy baillie denied this and offered to bet that, blindfolded, he could name any drink given him. The bet being accepted and the baillie blindfolded, the test commenced. The baillie drank everything submitted, smacking his lips and correctly named the drink until the taker was in despair. Then "try him wi water," whispered- a councillor, and the hint was taken. Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like eisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weekness.
